Good Afternoon,

The U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration will hold a virtual meeting Oct. 13, 2021, to solicit public comments and suggestions on key issues facing OSHA's Whistleblower Protection Program. This is the eighth in a series of meetings on how the agency can improve the whistleblower program.

Open to the public, the meeting will be held from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. ET via telephone and virtually via Microsoft Teams. The agency will provide Spanish language translation during the meeting. Those interested in joining or participating in the meeting must register in English or Spanish by Oct. 6, 2021. There is no fee to register.

OSHA is seeking comments on:

1. How can OSHA deliver better whistleblower customer service?
2. What kind of assistance can OSHA provide to help explain the agency's whistleblower laws to employees and employers?

What can OSHA do to ensure that workers are protected from retaliation for raising concerns related to the pandemic?

Comments must be submitted electronically at <http://www.regulations.gov>, which is the Federal eRulemaking portal and should be identified with Docket No. OSHA-2018-0005. The deadline for submitting comments is Oct. 6, 2021. For more information, please read the Federal Register notice and OSHA's related Press Release (in Spanish) for details.

Please share this information with your members and stakeholders, as appropriate.

Doug Kalinowski
Directorate of Cooperative and State Programs
